WOOD PLANS FOR HAWAII SITE CHANGE

Arrived in San Francisco This Morning and Will Confer with Exposition Officials

COST OF BUILDING WILL BE REDUCED $20,000

Location Originally Intended for British Exhibit May Be Secured by Territory

H. P. Wood, chairman of the Hawaii Fair Commission, arrived in San Francisco this morning in the Honolulu and, according to information which he gave out prior to leaving Honolulu for the mainland, by special appointment he has at once entered into conference with the president and other heads of the Panama-Pacific exposition regarding the proposed change in Hawaii's building site, as well as the details of the plans which the Commission has in view for erecting the building through the decreased appropriation of $30,000.

Recent correspondence between Governor L. E. Pinkham and Chairman Wood brought to light the fact that the former was not altogether in favor of the site for Hawaii's building as previously selected by the Commission, and at the same time he recommended that, if possible, the $50,000 set aside in the legislature's appropriation for the erection of the building, be lowered. Acting upon these recommendations, the Commission, after adopting a resolution made by John Hughes that $30,000 instead of $50,000 be used to construct the building, took steps which may result in Hawaii's obtaining for its building the site formerly chosen by England before that nation informed the exposition that she would not participate. The new proposed site is deemed by the Commission a much better one than the one which it selected at the time it began its work. It now is believed that some favorable agreement may be made between the exposition board and Chairman Wood whereby Hawaii's building will be erected on the new proposed site.

When Governor Pinkham passed through San Francisco on his way to Honolulu he visited the site at the exposition grounds which had been chosen by the Hawaii Fair Commission with the assistance of Captain William Matson, the late W. G. Irwin and other prominent San Francisco business men. The site, it seems, did not wholly meet with the governor's approval in spite of its apparent good location among the state and territory buildings. Shortly after his arrival in this city he looked over a statement of the

FRIESELL BOND REPUTED BY SURETY COMPANY

Territory Plans to Bring Suit to Recover Shortage of Young Contractor

Denying liability under the bond, the Pacific Coast Casualty Company, through its local agent, the Trent Trust Company, today notified Deputy Attorney General Leslie P. Scott that it will not make good the deficit in the accounts of F. M. Friesell, the young contractor who suddenly slipped away from Honolulu several weeks ago leaving his job on the new Pacific 6-inch pipe line unfinished. Scott is now preparing to bring suit on behalf of the territory to compel the bonding concern to make good the shortage.

When Friesell left he had drawn on his contract for the Pacific 6-inch a sum total of $2529.50, leaving a balance due him when the job should be finished, of $1395.50, the contract having been originally for $5655. But since Friesell's departure claims from local banks and business firms have come in for an aggregate of $1622.88, or $287.38 more than remained due him. This is the deficit against his account and which the Pacific Coast Casualty Company has been called upon to pay.

It is understood the bonding company, which had bonded Friesell to the territory in the sum of $1415, avers material alterations were made in the original contract, at which the bond had been given and the work begun, and therefore that the bondsmen are released automatically. The deputy attorney general asserts that while some extra work was done on the job, it was provided for in the contract.

Prof. Bryan Urges Honolulu Be Made Great Treaty Port

Prof. W. A. Bryan, who urged before Ad Club today advisability of national treaty free port.

An emphatic declaration that Hawaii cannot depend entirely upon its geographic position to maintain its title permanently as the "Crossroads of the Pacific" was made to the Honolulu Ad Club today by Prof. W. A. Bryan of the College of Hawaii. Mr. Bryan was the principal speaker at the Ad Club's regular weekly luncheon and his remarks, delivered forcefully and full of facts and figures, made a strong impression on the members of the club.

He spoke especially in favor of making Honolulu a great treaty free port and developing the islands as the principal distributing center of the Pacific. "As a treaty port," he declared, "Hawaii could not only diversify its agricultural interests, but develop latent manufacturing and general commercial opportunities, interests and resources which the opening of the canal should bring within its grasp."

"Standing, as Hawaii does, on the threshold of a new era in its affairs, there are many things in the air pointing to the wisdom of her seeking to become, not so much an oceanic state, as America's great treaty free port in the Pacific. Now that its status is well established as a territory in the eyes of the world, let our next legislature, representing, as it does, the most cosmopolitan constituency under the flag, lead the way by memorializing Congress to enact such laws and secure such treaties with interested nations as will open Hawaii's fortified harbors, owned and administered by America, on equal terms to the men, the ships and com-

JUDGE WILDER IS REINDORSED FOR JUSTICESHIP

Democratic County Committee
Follows Early Action with a Strong Reaffirmation

Judge A. A. Wilder for supreme court justice has been reindorsed by the Democratic county committee of Oahu, and the mails to Washington are carrying this and other recommendations of Judge Wilder.

A resolution by the county committee, dated March 7, is as follows: "Whereas, information has come to this committee that certain allegations have been made against Judge A. A. Wilder, who has been recommended by the territorial executive for appointment as an associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of Hawaii.

"Therefore be it resolved, that we reiterate and reaffirm our endorsement of Judge A. A. Wilder for the position of associate justice of the said supreme court, knowing him to be absolutely independent and fearless and one who could not be influenced by interests of any kind, who is impartial, trustworthy and capable in every way and manner and particularly fitted for that high and important position.

"Further be it resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the president of the United States, the attorney-general of the United States, chairman of the judiciary committee of the United States senate, and Gov. L. E. Pinkham.

"Passed unanimously this 7th day of March, A. D. 1914."

NATIONAL GUARD STRONG NOW ON OTHER ISLANDS

Citizens Consider Militia To Be Good, Cheap Insurance—and They Boost

MAUI COMPANIES ARE
FORGING AHEAD FAST

Inspection at Lahaina Last Sunday Shows Progress of Company

Increased interest in the national guard of Hawaii is by no means confined to Oahu, and although the recruiting of three new companies a few months ago naturally devolved on this island, where headquarters and most of the 1st infantry is located, Maui and Hawaii are not behindhand in interest and enthusiasm, and have done their part toward building up the organized militia of the territory. This became apparent at the commencement of the annual inspection of the outside companies, by Lieut. A. L. Bump, U. S. A., inspector-general of the guard, who left here last Saturday on a three weeks tour of Maui and Hawaii, and who inspected Company L, 1st Infantry, stationed at Lahaina, last Sunday.

Colonel Arthur Coyne, commanding the 1st Infantry, accompanied Lieut. Bump to inspect for the territory. Captain L. W. Redington accompanied Colonel Coyne as far as Maui, visiting Lahaina and Wailuku and returning to Honolulu this morning.

Interest Growing.
There is a marked increase of interest in militia matters on the Valley Island, not only among the men of the guard themselves, but also among the general public, which has waked to the fact that the national guard has the makings of a very efficient territorial force, and also that it is mighty cheap insurance for the islands outside of the military zone to carry.

It is likely that Maui will be the scene of considerable militia activity from now on, for the companies at Lahaina and Wailuku have both been recruited to well beyond minimum strength, and for the first time in the guard's history, a field officer of the 1st Infantry is stationed on Maui. Maj. William E. Bal, for many years captain of Company I, says that he intends to give the two Maui companies of his battalion considerable field work, and by the time that the outside companies arrive for the summer instruction camp, the men will be well trained in the essentials of their side profession.

"The great majority of the guardsmen on Maui are men who do out-

GENERAL CARTER WOULD INCREASE LOCAL GARRISON

New Commander of Hawaiian Department Will Recommend
Full-Strength Post

Major-general Wm. H. Carter, who is expected to arrive from the mainland in a couple of days, to take command of the Hawaiian department, believes that the Oahu garrison will be increased to full strength recommended in the very near future, according to an interview with the general printed in the San Francisco Chronicle. It has been known here for two years past that the plans of the general staff for the permanent garrison of the island called for a force of about 15,000 men, of which 8000 are now here. According to the new department commander, the other 7000 soldiers will be sent here just as soon as they can be spared from the Mexican border. This is a somewhat elastic date, especially when considered in the light of recent dispatches.

The Chronicle's interview with General Carter is, in part as follows: General Carter pointed out that he was not specially instructed by the war department as to its plans in Hawaii. On the contrary, most of his had been gathered from hearings before the congressional committee on military affairs. His departure for his new post has been accompanied with such forced dispatch that he had not had an opportunity to ascertain just what the details of the program are. Expects Important Things.

"I am hurrying out to Honolulu," said General Carter, "to take command of what is now the Hawaiian department. It is the first time that a major-general has been assigned to the Hawaiian post. I will be eligible for retirement in November, 1915, but before then it is expected that vitally important things will be done in the development of the defenses of the islands.

"We now have our army recruited

Joe Frenda, Former Volcano House Chef, Passed Away Today

(Special Star-Bulletin Wireless)

HILO, March 10.—Joe Frenda, for many years the chef at the Volcano House and for the past two years retired, was found dead at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the cottage of Demosthenes Lycurgus, a short distance from the hotel. At the breakfast table, this morning, Mr. Frenda had expressed a wish that he might die, stating that life was hardly worth living, in his continued state of ill-health. He had been a sufferer from heart trouble for some time past and it was to this ailment that death was due. He had been dead about 15 or 20 minutes when his body was discovered.

As chef at the Volcano House for nine years Joe Frenda made a large number of friends, residents of the islands and tourists being of one opinion regarding his ability in the culinary department of the popular hotel. Two years ago he was retired on a pension by Mr. Lycurgus. He is survived by a son, who resides in Hilo.

LUTHER BURBANK SEEN AT CLOSE RANGE AT HOME

By DR. E. S. GOODHUE

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 24.—"There's no use going up there to see Luther Burbank," said the hotel clerk to me. "He never sees anyone." In other words, my friend Murdoch voiced the same sentiment, "You are very fortunate if you get to see him. He is shy and busy and visitors have imposed upon him."

When we reached the Occidental hotel late one evening after a few hours from South Vallejo through the alluring Sonoma hills, mine host asked us if we came to see Luther Burbank.

"Well," he said, "I'm afraid you'll be disappointed, for he never gets seen by any except his intimates. But you can run over and see the premises, his old and new houses on the outside."

"He's done a sight for this 'ere town," Burbank has made it, ye might say. The postoffice want anything—now it employs a swad of girls, and they mail 24,000 circulars every day from Burbank. Look at the Burbank school! And every other postcard in Santa Rosa has his picture on it!"

This is true. Everything's Burbank all over the town. The night before we arrived the board of trade gave a Burbank banquet.

W.W. THAYER IS INDORSED FOR SECRETARYSHIP

Barron Off for Washington Tomorrow with Declaration He Sticks by Friends

"I shall stand by my friends that have stood by me, win or lose—and I don't expect to lose," said Charles Barron today, discussing his departure tomorrow for Washington to press his claims to the Honolulu postmaster-ship.

"I have many friends on the mainland and I am going to stand squarely on my record and on the record of the county committee of Oahu. We stand with Governor Pinkham and believe that he's doing the right thing." Barron made public today a letter of endorsement from the county committee for the appointment of Wade Warren Thayer as secretary of the territory. The letter is to Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane. It says:

"Hon. Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior, Washington, D. C.
"My Dear Mr. Secretary:

"I am advised that Governor Pinkham has forwarded to you for appointment as secretary of the territory of Hawaii the name of Wade Warren Thayer, Esq.

"I have known Mr. Thayer for a number of years and know him to be a Democrat and a man well fitted for the position named. I am confident from personal knowledge of his ability and character that he is fully capable of performing the duties of the office in question in an efficient manner and to be a credit to the administration, and also for the best interest of the Democratic party.

"I am also instructed by the Democratic county committee of the city and county of Honolulu to endorse Mr. Thayer for the above position.

"I have the honor to remain,

"Yours very respectfully,
"CHARLES BARRON,
"Vice-chairman, Democratic County Committee, City and County of Honolulu."

STAND BEHIND PRESIDENT, SAYS F. B. KELLOGG

This Is the Duty of All American Citizens, Is Message of Famous Trust-buster

IS LUNCHEON GUEST
OF UNIVERSITY CLUB

Attorney from Minnesota Impresses Hearers in Brief Talk
That Is All to the Point

The duty of every American to hold up the hands of President Wilson in his efforts to solve the menacing Mexican problem, constituted the burden of a 15-minute address delivered at noon today before the University Club, by Hon. Frank Billings Kellogg of St. Paul. Mr. Kellogg, who, with his wife, is spending a vacation in the islands, is a lawyer of national prominence, and came particularly before the public eye a year or two ago through his "trust busting" activities in connection with prosecutions under the Sherman anti-trust law.

The speaker made a deep impression upon the 150 or more who heard him. His style is direct and logical, his voice is distinct and pleasing in quality, and he has a personality that may very properly be called magnetic. It is not difficult to understand his success in impressing his opinions before a jury. At the table he occupied a place at the right of President Charles R. Hemenway, of the University Club, beside whom was also seated Governor Pinkham.

Mr. Kellogg conveyed the impression that he is not in accord with the manner in which the administration has handled the Mexican situation, admitting at the same time that his conclusions may not be sound because of details on which he is not informed, but he argued that no loyal American is justified in doing or advocating publicly anything that may tend to arouse the antagonism of the people against the policies which the president has laid down.

"The responsibility of anyone who presumes to discuss publicly the situation which now confronts us," said Mr. Kellogg, "is a most serious one. I believe it is the duty of everyone to stand by the president in his efforts to solve this great problem which now confronts us. I do not mean that one need necessarily agree with the president in his methods, but it should not be the part of anyone to arouse antagonism to what he is trying to accomplish.

"It is our duty as a nation to protect American manhood and American enterprise, where they are honestly

The matter of the recent arrest of W. H. C. M. Robertson, chief justice of the supreme court, giving his opinion in the matter as requested by the commissioners, Special Officer C. E. Calvert was hailed before the board and, in caustic statements, gave his version of the affair which tended to show that, only after much hesitation and a severe criticism of Officer Calvert, did Judge

May Richardson Tells Magistrate That She Desired to De-

Rebuke to the Government for Destroying the Most Beautiful Character of Modern History, Mrs. Pankhurst

LONDON, Mar. 10.—May Richardson, one of the most notorious of the violent suffragettes, entered the National Art Gallery and slashed the Rokeby Venus, one of the masterpieces of that famous artist of the brush, Velasquez. The painting was valued at $500,000 according to the estimate of the curator and the damage to the picture as the result of the vandalism of the woman is placed at $75,000. Miss Richardson, when taken before a magistrate, stated that she had attempted to destroy the picture of the most beautiful woman of mythology as a protest against the government for destroying Mrs. Pankhurst, "the most beautiful character of modern history." Hereafter the gallery will be kept closed.

W. W. Naughton, Dean of Coast Sporting Writers, Passes Away

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—W. W. Naughton, a pioneer newspaper man of San Francisco, died here today. He was stricken with heart disease February 26, and never rallied from the first attack.

"Uncle Bill" Naughton, the name by which he was affectionately known to a large circle of friends and acquaintances, was one of the best-known writers of sporting news in the country, and for many years was called the dean of the sporting editors. He was a world-wide authority on pugilism, and there has been hardly a fight of consequence in the last 30 years that Naughton did not attend. For several years past he has been in poor health, and his fellow workers on the San Francisco Examiner, of which paper he was sporting editor, have felt grave fears for him.

New Home Rule Plan is Made for Benefit of Ulster

LONDON, Eng., March 10.—A new plan to settle the Irish home rule controversy without the threatened outbreak of violence was brought forward today by Premier Asquith. He proposed that the Ulster counties vote upon the question whether they should be excluded from the home rule provisions until six years after the first meeting of the Irish parliament. This would leave Ulster free to observe the effect of Irish law-making.

The unionists received the plan coldly, the nationalists favorable while general public sentiment seems to be lukewarm.

TOKIO, Japan, March 10.—The upper house of parliament, today, reduced the naval budget to the tune of $20,000,000 despite the vigorous remonstrances of the premier. The lower house had previously made a reduction of $11,000,000.

Alaska Railway is Now Certain

The president is ready to sign the bill.

HARRY LAUDER MAY BE AD CLUB GUEST; IRISH LUNCHEON ALSO A PLAN

Harry Lauder, the great Scotch comedian, may be the guest of the Honolulu Ad Club at a luncheon next Monday. George B. Curtis is trying to get in touch with Lauder by wireless, Lauder being on the Sonoma bound for Australia by Honolulu, and the project of the luncheon was brought up at the Ad Club's weekly cheerfest today.

Also, the Ad Club is planning an Irish luncheon next Tuesday, March 17, in honor of the well-known saint of the Irish, and today there was some excited discussion as to whether the Scotch and Irish could be mixed without sudden and disastrous effects, in case the Monday luncheon were to be made "Irish day" as well as Scotch. Amid much good humor committees were named to see what can be accomplished and the announcement of details will be printed later.

Manager W. D. Adams of the opera house stated this afternoon that he had received a cable from Lauder saying that the Scotch comedian will not be able to give a performance here on his way to Australia. He promised to give one on his return from the Australian tour, which will be in the early part of the fall.

Boyer Tried March 19

The second trial of George A. ("Bert") Boyer in federal court on a statutory charge probably will be continued to Thursday, March 15, when it is called by U. S. District Judge Clemons next Monday morning. Attorney E. A. Douthett expected to leave today for the other islands and would be unable to return in time for the hearing Monday. It is understood the continuance has been mutually agreed upon by the prosecution and defense.
